Theology

Have you ever asked yourself the question “why do I exist, and what is my relationship to the infinite universe that surrounds me?” If you find yourself constantly pondering about never-ending life and why you are in the universe, then majoring in theology may be for you.

King's College, which is a Catholic College in the Holy Cross tradition, encourages students to explore not only Catholicism but also other Christian denominations. We believe by learning about their own religion as well as other faith traditions, our students develop stronger intellects and become better contributors to society.

What can I do with a degree in Theology?

Plenty. While many individuals who study theology may be contemplating a future in the clergy or religious life, a degree in this discipline can also serve as a strong foundation for careers in other areas due to its inherent use of critical thinking and writing. It is also an excellent preparatory program for students planning to further their education in graduate school. Listed below are just a few of the careers where a degree in theology can take you:

- counseling
- education
- health care
- community development
- social services

Get ready to explore

By participating in a major that is rich in history and philosophy it is only natural that many questions arise as students study it. Just a few of the many questions you will ponder include:

- How has Christian tradition impacted Western civilization?
- What can theology teach me about living and working ethically?
- What does it take to build a good Christian marriage and family?
- What role should religion play in public policy formation?
- How does Catholicism differ from other strands of Christian tradition?
- How can theology help society better minister to the poor?

Can I prepare for religious life at King's?

Students who feel called to examine religious life are encouraged to participate in the Holy Cross Affiliates Program. In this program, students have an opportunity to meet with Holy Cross religious and other young men to discuss what paths their callings might take them on.

Where are they now?

Many of our graduates have found success in graduate school and the workplace.

- Drew University, Master of Divinity program
- Cabrini College, VISTA Office
- André House (Holy Cross affiliate) ministries
